

Reworld™ Appoints Aaron Johnson as President, Midwest Region

MORRISTOWN, N.J., June 3, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- Reworld™, a leader in sustainable waste solutions, announced today the appointment of Aaron Johnson as President, Midwest Region, reinforcing the company's commitment to regional growth and enhanced capabilities.

Johnson brings more than 22 years of extensive experience in the waste management industry with unique credibility in profiled waste. He began his career in his family-owned waste business that was acquired by Waste Management in 2003, where he further enhanced his expertise until his most recent role as Area Vice President for the Great Lakes Area. Throughout this time, Johnson has demonstrated a strong track record in delivering top and bottom-line financial results, driving operational efficiency, supporting new business expansion, and leading change.

"Aaron's deep industry knowledge and hands-on approach make him an excellent fit to lead our Midwest Region," said Azeez Mohammed, President and CEO of Reworld™. "His experience driving growth both organically and inorganically, executing successful integrations, and leading large teams through change will be critical as we continue to expand our footprint and elevate performance across the region."

As President, Midwest Region, Johnson will oversee all aspects of the company's business across the Midwest, focusing on commercial growth, service delivery, and operational discipline. He holds a bachelor's degree in business management from Purdue University.

His appointment to the Reworld™ executive team underscores the company's focus on delivering sustainable solutions and long-term value to its customers and stakeholders.
